Paris, Feb. 21.—The German government is the same bureaucratic regime of the Kaiser's day, with the same attitude toward labor and capital, and does not represent the forces which caused the revolution," says Dr. Alonzo E. Taylor, food specialist, who has just returned from Germany, where he made extensive investigations in behalf of the supreme food relief council.

"Count von Bernstorff is in charge of affairs at the foreign office and the bureaucrats of the old school are in evidence everywhere," he added.

"The Germans are becoming Russianized. They are afraid to put untried men into the service and consequently they tolerate the old order of things."

German propagandists, Dr. Taylor found, favor the league of nations and are filling the newspapers with articles that President Wilson's doctrine should be considered as having become effective on the day the armistice was signed and should have been interpreted as leaving Alsace and Lorraine in German hands.

The German army has apparently been disorganized and demobilized for the most part, Dr. Taylor says, but he believes it will be possible for a well-organized bureaucracy to restore military discipline if it is deemed desirable. Many Germans believe they will recover their belongings and money and do not expect to give up any territory and, in Dr. Taylor's opinion, a grave political upheaval is probable with the signing of the treaty of peace.

The present full is regarded as unnatural by Dr. Taylor, who says it was possibly created by the payment of large indemnities to unemployed persons and by suspending action on all questions vital to the future of the nation.

Unemployed men, he said, are paid eight marks per day while railway workers and street-cleaners only six marks daily. Consequently the money is not being used.

Dr. Taylor says that they would have been prohibited under the imperial regime, now tolerated; that the general public morale is very low. He says the food situation is critical and that the nation cannot live until next harvest unless supplied by outside powers.

The death rate has increased, especially among children between five and ten years of age, under two years of age, better than the rest through the self-sacrificing of mothers. Lack of fuel and raw materials has closed virtually all industries and the streets are hampered because they have little coal.

Labor conditions are so bad at the coal mines that there is little prospect of an increase in the fuel output.

Columbus, Feb. 21.—Speaker Kinnah of the house of representatives today announced that he will ask R. R. Bennett, of Ohio, to explain the meaning of the word "disloyal" in the wording of the bill.

Both Republican and Democrat admitted today that all hope of a harmonious session between the executive department, which is democratic, and the legislature, which is republican, has disappeared and predicted frequent combats from now on.

Representative Myers of Cuyahoga county, chairman of the joint committee on German propaganda, on the floor of the house this morning took Representative Hooley of Champlain county to task for inviting Representative Fess to appear before the committee March 14 on his (Hooley's) resolution criticizing the German government.

Hooley said Fess had important information which would be an exposure of conditions in Ohio relative to conscientious objectors.

London Dispatch Says.

(Associated Press Telegram)

London, Feb. 21.—Kurt Eisner, the premier of Bavaria, has been shot and killed.

The premier was killed this morning, according to a Munich dispatch received in Amsterdam, by Lieutenant Count Aroo Valley.

The count was wounded severely by a guard and is reported to be dying.

Kurt Eisner, who seized the reins of government in Bavaria after the deposition of the royal family early in November, was a Socialist of the moderate type and recent reports from Munich have been that he was heading a Spartacist movement against the moderate and conservative factions in Bavaria.

The Aroo valley family has been prominent in Bavaria and Germany for years, a count of that name having died at Rio Janeiro in 1909 while German minister to Brazil.

Eisner, a Jew, was born in Galicia, and at one time was editor-in-chief of the Vorwarts of Berlin.

Accompanied by guards in gorgeous uniforms and on a special train, Eisner went to Berlin to attend the International Labor conference there early this month.

BERGER APPEALS
20-YR. SENTENCEIs At Liberty Under Bond

Other Socialists Sentenced.

(Associated Press Telegram)

Chicago, Feb. 21.—Victor L. Berger, Socialist congressman-elect of Milwaukee, and his four co-defendants, are at liberty today, following the granting of a writ of supersedeas after sentence of 20 years' imprisonment for violation of the espionage act had been pronounced by Federal Judge K. M. Landis. This act as a stay pending appeal to a higher court.

Those sentenced with Berger are: Joseph Gerner, secretary of the National Socialist party; J. Louis Engdahl, editor of the American Socialist; Rev. Irwin St. John Tucker, lecturer and writer; and William F. Kutz, head of the Young People's Socialist League.

After the granting of a petition for the writ by Judge Landis, counsel for the men went before Judge Samuel F. Alschuler of the United States circuit court of appeals, and asked for bail. This was granted in the sum of $25,000 for each of the two counts of the indictment under which each man was convicted.

The five men were held in Judge Alschuler's courtroom until midnight before bail was obtained. As Berger and his companions fled out of the federal building they were followed by a crowd of several hundred, singing and cheering. Before granting the writ, Judge Alschuler questioned each of the convicted men and received promises from each that he would conduct himself within the law pending hearing of further proceedings.

Berger asked if he was to understand that he was to quit his position as editor of the Milwaukee Leader, his newspaper.

"I am not here to dicker or bargain with you men," the judge answered. "You will have to use your own judgment."

Burglars got jewelry from the home of Mrs. A. B. Shepard was reported to the police this morning. The theft of more than $2,000 worth of musical instruments from a downtown music store was reported to police this morning. All the claret in the store, some of them of high value, were taken.

Washington, Feb. 21.—Major General Peter E. Traub, who commanded the 35th division in the battle of the Argonne, denied before the house rules committee yesterday the charge of Governor Allen of Kansas that the men of the division, Missourians and Kansans, were sacrificed by failure of artillery support.

Washington, Feb. 21.—A resolution designed to prevent President Wilson from discussing publicly the proposed League of Nations until he has communicated details of the plan to the senate foreign relations committee, was introduced today by Senator Sherman of Illinois, Republican. Consideration of the resolution went over under the rules.

The resolution declares that to discuss the plan when and where the president chooses before submitting the details to the senate would be "unwise, undiplomatic and calculated to promote discord" between the government's two treaty-making powers, and calls upon the president to preserve an unbiased and impartial mind until he has discussed the matter with the senate.

Senator Borah of Idaho, Republican, member of the foreign relations committee, delivered in the senate today his promised attack on the League of Nations, and referred to it "as the most radical departure from our policies that we have ever considered."

Washington, Feb. 21.—Secretary Daniels announced today that President Wilson would embark on the George Washington about March 5 for his return trip to France. The battleship, North Carolina, returning from France with troops has joined the president's transport, the George Washington, and is proceeding with her to Boston, replacing the battleship New Mexico, which dropped behind with disabled machinery.

Diverted from her course yesterday on radio orders the North Carolina reported today that she had come up with the transport. The cruiser Denver ordered to sea to meet the George Washington had not reported her position early today.

Washington, Feb. 21.—President Wilson will deliver his address here at 3 o'clock next Monday afternoon in Mechanics building. This was announced by Major General Clegg, in a lay message from the George Washington.

Washington, Feb. 21.—The first contingent of the American Red Cross left for Warsaw today. Another group will follow on Friday. The groups will meet at Berlin and continue their journey by the way of Innsbruck, Vienna and Cracow. Lieutenant Colonel Walter C. Bailey of Boston, Mass., heads the commission which consists of 50 members coming from all parts of the United States.

That aid is needed there is shown by messages received from Poland today. The Polish Red Cross urged the dispatch of special medicines, which are being rushed from France and from Red Cross warehouses at Danzig, Copenhagen and Bern. Cholera, smallpox and trachoma are also ravaging the country, it is reported.

Colonel Robert E. O. Olds, the new American Red Cross commissioner for Europe, said today:

"This is the first concerted and systematic effort to relieve unhappy Poland, which needs help more than any other place in the world."

Count Alexander Stambek, representing the Polish Red Cross, said today that "the very presence of American men and women will prove a great morale factor in Poland."

TO MAKE OUR COUNTRY SAFE TO LIVE IN

ALL LIQUORS IN STOCK SUBJECT
TO TAX UNDER NEW REVENUE LAWNone Is Exempted, Tax Collector Williams Announces—
Income Blanks Go to Taxpayers Before March 1,
Statement Says—Time Limit Is March 15.

According to Washington, advice President Wilson will sign the revenue measure Monday or Tuesday of next week. Then it becomes a law. Immediately upon the passage of the law, a floor tax on liquors and on cigars, cigarettes, and the like, goes into effect. The last revenue law provided 50 gallons exemption for liquors. The exemption is not in force in the new law. Dealers will therefore be required to list the entire stock on hand.

"Beer in possession of dealers will not be subject to the floor tax," Collector Williamson announced.

"Inventory forms provided by the government will be in the hands of dealers within a few days. The blanks will explain the method of payment, a page being devoted to instructions."

"It is not likely that the income tax blanks for net incomes beyond $5000 will be in the hands of taxpayers before March 1. Corporation blanks will be mailed from my office about the same time. The smaller form for taxpayers whose net incomes are less than $5000 are being placed in the hands of known income taxpayers and returns are expected to come in quickly after the passage of the law."

"The time limit for filing returns for both individuals and corporations is March 15. Although there is a lay payment plan for the large taxpayers, Commissioner Roper urges that full payment be made at the time of filing the return. Even those who take advantage of the lay payment plan must make the first payment on March 15 or be subject to interest at the rate of one-half of 1 per cent on that first payment. So it is essential that first payments of the larger taxpayer be made at the time of filing the return. However, the average taxpayer and the average corporation is expected to pay the full amount on March 15."

To the 15-field deputies of his own force there was added, Tuesday morning, 12 from the revenue agents of the collector's office. Both on the income tax and the floor taxes. These two drives will be conducted separately.

The new law affecting incomes of taxpayers under $5000 reads about the same as the old law with the exception of percentage. In place of 2 per cent the law is now 4 per cent on such income.

The whisky tax has been increased from $1.25 a gallon to $2.40 a gallon. The floor tax on whiskies in the hands of dealers will be the difference between the old law and the new which is $3.20 a gallon.

The tax has been increased from $2 a barrel to $6 a barrel on beer. Cigar inventories explain the various rates on different classes of cigars.

Allies—Make 12-Day Trip
Over Arctic Snows.

Archangel, Wednesday, Feb. 19.—An Arctic journey of probably the greatest magnitude since the famous Kiondike dog rush has brought additional British troops to the Archangel front to reinforce the greatly outnumbered troops fighting the Bolsheviks. Hundreds of sleighs, driving in single file over frozen tundras and along roads cut through pine forests, completed the most difficult part of their 300 mile trip in 12 days.

The trip was planned and directed by members of Sir Ernest H. Shackleton's Antarctic expedition including Dr. McKim and was a great success. Sir Ernest himself, although not participating in the journey to the front, arrived at Archangel on an icebreaker with the first detachment of reinforcing troops.

QUARTERED IN BERLIN

London, Feb. 21.—American troops have arrived in Berlin and been quartered in different hotels, says a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Copenhagen, quoting the Extrablade's Berlin correspondent.

The troops are said to belong to the 112th (New York) regiment, and their duty will be protection of expected transports of food.

Washington, Feb. 21.—Despite an effort put forth yesterday in the house of representatives to save the lives of Frank Mazzano, aged 21, and Rosario Borgia, aged 25—Italians—the two men were electrocuted at the penitentiary here shortly after midnight. The men were convicted of the murder of Policeman Edwin Richards in Akron, March 12, 1918.

Representative Evans of Lucas county, offered a resolution asking Governor Cox to commute the sentences of the men to life imprisonment. He attempted to have the resolution adopted under a suspension of the rules but failed by an overwhelming vote. The resolution is to come up in the regular course of procedure today, too late to benefit the men it attempted to save. The action of Representative Evans brought forth considerable criticism.

Mazzano was the first to die. He was pronounced dead at 12:10 a. m., and Borgia at 12:15 a. m. The bodies were taken to Akron for burial.

Paris, Feb. 21.—Premier Clemenceau will receive his colleagues of the supreme council at his home this afternoon to discuss certain important matters with them. Announcement to this effect was made shortly before noon today.

His doctors consider him out of danger and their authorities have to resolve the ministers this afternoon.

The physicians believed he could resume his political activities on Monday. The premier's physicians when they left his home after the morning examination were apparently satisfied with the manner in which the premier was progressing. One of them said his condition was "very satisfactory."

He passed an excellent night, it was added, and was in as good spirits as ever this morning.

M. Clemenceau had about five hours' good sleep during the night, which is his normal amount.

Premier Clemenceau is progressing as well as possible. We shall not feel altogether reassured for 48 hours, but then he will be out of danger," said Georges Mandel, Premier Clemenceau's chief clerk to Marcel Rutin, of the Ecole de Paris, who was at the telephone at an early hour this morning.

M. Clemenceau at that time was resting and inquiries mostly newspapers' desirous of some late news for their editions were informed that his condition continued satisfactory.

"The only possible danger," said a celebrated French surgeon, who was consulted by the Matin, "and it is fortunately, a very probable one, is the complication of local pneumonia, a condition caused by reaction. Such a condition eventually has not developed and the robust constitution and magnificent vigor of the 'Tiger' are against such a complication. Let us then be very confident. If by tomorrow night there is no temperature our confidence may be changed to an assurance of absolute recovery. Every day that passes without a temperature appearing is a patient's chance."

The early morning appearance of the premier was a change with the premier. The report that came from his chamber at 8 o'clock was that his condition was satisfactory in possible under the circumstances.

A delegation from Denmark will be heard by the supreme council today in connection with the future of Schleswig-Holstein. The Danish delegation, took from Denmark in 1918. The delegation proposes a plebiscite for the northern section, but not for the southern section, which includes the Kiel peninsula.

Denmark is the first neutral state to send delegates before the council, and their appearance is an indication of the universal range which the peace conference adjustment is taking.

Polish and Albanian delegations, it was expected, also will be heard by the council today.

The committee as yet has not met all of its obligations assessed upon it, by the national organization in charge of the various war movements because of the fact that it has only paid a percentage of some of such assessments. Stating that realizing the nature of the public trust which it is discharging the executive committee desires to publicly announce that at all times the records of the war chest expenditures and appropriations are held open to public scrutiny and will be made available to any one desiring information upon application to the secretary of the organization.

HERO ADMITS HIS FEAR IN FACING BIG AUDIENCE

Went Through Many Air Battles But Village Celebration Scared Him Most of All.

(Special to The Advocate.)

Granville, Feb. 21.—Lieutenant Joe Haskins, the Granville aviator, just returned from France, was honored by the citizens last night with a rousing reception in the Opera House, which for pep and patriotism exceeded any public demonstration in the old town since the signing of the armistice. Preparations for the event, while somewhat hurried, were none the less complete, and the crowd which packed the hall, enjoyed a fine program of music and crisp, snappy speeches by men closely associated with the returned hero.

Opening the program the Denison orchestra under direction of Prof. K. H. Eschman played several appropriate selections with fine effect. It is no small undertaking to assemble an organization of college men on short notice and Conductor Eschman himself cheerfully postponed his recital, and Prof. E. P. Johnson his reading scheduled for the same hour in order to participate in the demonstration.

Mayor Coons, among other things, spoke briefly of Granville's part in the war, and said that while it was "Joe Haskins' night," he had a vision of a welcome for all the boys when all had returned. He would stir up the old town as only the news of peace had been able to stir it, and he looked to see the war mothers marching in even greater parade, each with her soldier son by her side. He mentioned the fact that only that day, of Granville's Red Cross nurses, from France.

President Chamberlain also called the event "Joe Haskins' night," and Denison aviators' night, and called attention to the plans for this branch of service which are being made throughout the country. New airplane models are being adopted, and the greatest of them is to be named "The Granville." He said that if the Nation's losses in the war had been in the same proportion as those of Denison, the United States would have lost 5,000,000 men, and a dread of airplane would have been its country's defense had been early in the struggle.

Prof. R. W. Soule sang, accompanied by Prof. Eschman, "The Americans Have Come" by Foster, and his magnificent interpretation stirred the audience to a frenzy of applause, which subsided only when he had taken his seat in the audience.

Dr. C. L. Williams rose to the occasion with characteristic eloquence, and his reminiscences of the returned hero, as he recalled him on the battlefield, some hot football scrimmage, were both witty and wise. He said that in his opinion, Joe's training under Coach Livingston had been a valuable part of his training for the dangerous service in which he afterward enlisted. In behalf of Granville Star, and A. M. he welcomed "the guest of honor."

The chairman introduced the father of the hero, Rev. E. E. Haskins, who was to tell "How it Feels to be the Father of Two Aviators in the Service." He responded by tribute to all mothers and fathers of boys in the service, by a tribute of appreciation to Denison university where his children have been educated, and to Granville where they have spent many happy years of their lives. He spoke with thankfulness of the return of his boys, and of the expected return of so many of the Granville boys as well.

Lieut. Herbert Shorney, '19, of the aviation service, who was in France at the signing of the armistice, and has returned to complete his course in Denison, then introduced Lieut. Haskins by relating a few of the exploits he was sure would be omitted by the modest hero. The four aviators, Lieutenants Charles Haskins, O. N. Price and Herbert Shorney occupied places on the stage at the right of the speaker.

The house rose to Joe and the rafter rang with the long continued applause as he appeared in uniform and wearing the Croix de guerre bestowed for personal valor in bringing down two Hun planes and the Cordon Fourragere for citation with his squadron. He began by saying that he "never had been as badly scared in his life as he was at that moment, but that he would find courage in touching the trophies which were piled on a table at hand, recalling concrete things." If a mere civilian might say a word concerning a returned soldier it is that they all are too modest in relating their experiences of the war. They all abhor more talk about their exploits and Lieutenant Haskins is no exception. He gave a first talk all too brief, along certain lines of experiences, and answered questions of those interested in particular phases of aerial warfare—but he made no mention of the shot-riddled machine when he spoke of his observer's being wounded, nor of the many occasions when he brought a damaged plane to a safe landing. He paid a high tribute to the bravery and endurance of the men in the trenches, and referred to the well known exploits of Captain Hayes, Graham of Granville, which a closing, by the orchestra, the "party" was declared over and every one was invited to the stage to greet the air man and to inspect the many souvenirs of his life in France.

CAMPBELL SAYS WIFE IS UNTRUE

Declares in Answer to Suit That She Is Infatuated With Another Army Officer.

Alleged "improper relations" of Mrs. Margaret Campbell, wife of Captain Samuel Howard Campbell, with Captain Christian R. Holmes of Cincinnati, who, through his mother, is related to the Fleischmann family of that city, are bare in an answer and cross-petition of Campbell's to his wife's petition for divorce, filed yesterday in Columbus.

The Campbell's have a country home south of Granville and are well known to Newark and Granville people. Captain Holmes is a son of Major C. R. Holmes of Cincinnati and Camp Sherman, and is said now to be in New York. He returned last fall from overseas, where he was wounded. He is said to have received the Croix de guerre and the American distinguished service cross. His heroism is reported to have received personal recognition of General Pershing. He was sent back to America to give instruction to soldiers. Three wound stripes are on his coat sleeve.

That his wife was "infatuated" with and preferred the "society, caresses and affections" of Captain Holmes to that of her husband, that she conducted a clandestine correspondence by mail, telegraph and telephone with Holmes; and that she lavished her affections upon him and invited him to their home at all hours of the night and day is charged in the husband's cross-petition and answer.

J. C. Campbell, father of Campbell, was always kind to Mrs. Campbell, the petition avers, considerate of her welfare, and during the time Campbell was in the army, provided her with not less than $350 a month for support. Mrs. Campbell, in her petition, had charged J. C. Campbell with meddling in affairs of her husband and self.

The petition declares that there is feeling on the part of the Olinde family against J. C. Campbell, because Olinde unsuccessfully made attempts to get the latter to invest large sums of money in promotions of his, ranging in amounts from $150,000 down.

It is claimed that Campbell finally did loan Olinde $1,000 to pay "pressing debts." The loan has never been repaid, the cross petition declares.

SAY KAISER'S SON LEADS NEW REVOLT

Basel, Feb. 21.—A reactionary insurrection broke out at Munich on Wednesday according to the Frankfort Zeitung. Demobilized Bavarian bluejackets attacked the Diet hall, and occupied the telegraph office and police headquarters, but were eventually dislodged by government troops.

Prince Joachim of Prussia, sixth son of the former emperor, was arrested, it being reported that he apparently had some connection with the movement. He has been staying at Munich under the name of Count Merz. The government has announced that it will take the necessary measures to protect the Diet and punish the persons responsible for the uprising.

HUNS SELL ARTILLERY FOR 6,000 MARKS

Warsaw, Wednesday, Feb. 19.—The Germans are reported not to be observing the provisions of the armistice agreement as to fighting in Posen and it is said that skirmishes have occurred at scattered points. The morale of the Germans is declared to be low, as is evidenced by the reported sale of a battery of artillery to a Polish catholic priest, the price being six thousand marks.

MEETS MAJ. MONTGOMERY IN NEW YORK HOTEL LOBBY

M. J. Reese returned today from New York City where he has been the past week on business. While in the lobby of the McAlpin Hotel he ran across Major Charles W. Montgomery, who arrived from France Wednesday on the steamer Rotterdam, and expects to remain at Camp Upton for a couple of weeks and will then probably be sent to Camp Sherman for final discharge. Reese stated that Major Montgomery is in the best of health and that he is pleased to get back to America now that the great war has ended and is anxious to return to his native city.

BOYS LOOK FOR WELCOME HOME HEWITT WRITES

Urges That Last Units to Return Be Not Overlooked By Folks Back Home.

That the welcome home is going to be an essential with the boys over there and as real to them as any of the war, is shown in a letter received from Charles E. Hewitt, former manager of the Kresge store of this city, and now with the Y. M. C. A., who makes a plea that in welcoming the boys who are now home, the boys who are to come may not be forgotten.

He says: "When they come home make the welcome a real one. Do not overlook the very last doughboys as for the first of the wounded. Everyone alike has done his bit and has been ever ready to sacrifice his all. I can't help but think of this welcome for they are looking for it, in a modest way just to let them know you've missed them, appreciated them, and are glad to get them back."

Continuing Hewitt writes: "Tonight I was back in the U. S. A. (in fancy) and at Newark, and I could see the Kiwanis club as it was at the meetings. Fact is it started off with a bang anyway, but I have been re-reading the notices and I have another picture before me of big crowds at the luncheons, big time entertainment, enthusiasm at the top notch—and then again I hear the Rotarians, supporting not the growth of the youngster that is making strides in the big things of Newark, and for Newark's welfare, and so I am hopeful for the day when I shall be privileged to be among you again."

"What can I tell you, not too burdensome of the most interest? For now you are probably hearing the real things about Chateau Thierry and Argonne wood or St. Michel, and say, fellows, they were real."

"Seems to many over here, as though it were impossible to adequately appreciate every man of this A. E. F. of ours. That's the way everybody feels, who has lived along with the boys for months—say they're so big, by the big morale—collectively and individually, that this army stands out by itself as the greatest, I am sure of all time."

"When they come home make the welcome as sincere for the very last dough-boy as for the first of the wounded. Everyone alike has done his bit, and has been ever ready to sacrifice his all. Can't help but think of this welcome for they are looking for it, in a modest way—just to have you show them that you've missed them—appreciated them—and that you are glad to have them back. I've seen many who can't come back, and I stopped the old 90th, p. 'ooche' Mercedes that I saw going in, near Verdun, (it was growing dark so I can not tell just where) but the white crosses told of the lads who like the rest on the line played around with the Old Grim Reaper and lost—but won. But say, fellows, next day I passed a Jerry burning, fellows, this side of Luxembourg, and believe me there was a crop of the beggars recently placed there. I saw many more, often a lone grave by the road side (near Thionville particularly) which is near Luxembourg. Our boys who have stay over here, have given in charge of themselves that can't be repaid to those returning in any too great a measure by your welcome as you have them back to you again. Be particular about that dough-boy, that 'buddy' who didn't wear olive drab, fellows, he's the man who made history by his very straight forward sincerity—and the wonderful morale—if you please; a soldier with an outward show of liquor, (and over here, water is commonly understood by the Europeans as being a mighty scarce sight, even in Paris. If I have said too much of this, please pardon. When you see nothing but the Olive Drab divisions of our men, and nothing but soldiers—when you have lived with them, messed with them, constantly, you will know that it is not enthusiasm of the passing sort."

"Leaving Bar-le-Duc December 10th, I arrived at Coblenz with the first American contingent, December 11th, driving the motor at night without lights—and the Mercedes was without say, fellows, I find that light is not a necessity at all—just a luxury. For instance, I trailed the 'bus' to a set of high power carbide lamps and returning from Dusseldorf via Cologne about midnight I was told to sleep by the roadside, this morning, after having a cigaret (Came! too) as my breakfast fixed up the gas by borrowing a felt hat from a German—straining the gas through it—coming into Coblenz 'tute suite'."

Yesterday I was at Dusseldorf, and as you know it is not occupied by any of the allies. We were told that we were the first two of the A. E. F. ever in Dusseldorf. By the way people crowded around (now I'm sure that I am some kind of a curiosity) it looked so. The German military authorities said that no Americans, British, French or other allies had been there—neutral territory—as Bonn and Cologne are occupied by British and Colonial. News by French and Belgians this city where I noticed the International Harvester plant, is but 20 kilometers from Holland and 30 kilometers from Belgium.

"These German cities are beautiful. The Rhine country is indescribable in its grandeur. The mountains and valleys are not without green vegetation even at this time of the year. The roads are wonderful—the economy and general thrift of the German people are among the most potent signs of their general efficiency. They are scrupulous in neat in their homes; they are very cordial to the A. E. F. and apparently

"Food is scarce with them. Their principal food is from katefel' (potatoes) cooked in various forms."

"Of course these are only my personal observations, but I have been in many families, stopping when I might overlook a home. When I am in Coblenz I am billeted with a German family who not only record me every courtesy, but who have a bath and you know what a warm bath means over here (and incidentally warm water to shave with)."

"The main question over here with all the boys is 'When Are We Going Home?'"

"With the army of occupation I presume that it is probable."

"This was commenced in Cologne—had a ride toward Holland and I have finished in Coblenz. I trust it is not wearisome for I have endeavored to speak in my limited way of the things that occurred to me and must be of some interest. If there were no censorship perhaps I could think of little sidelights—at least amusing, some glad, some sad."

"With most sincere personal regards to each one and assuring you of the interest which I have in you, as well as the notices afford and anticipating the time when I may again gather with you."

AUDITORIUM.

Mary Pickford Tonight.
Mary Pickford, the clever Artcraft star, opens at the Auditorium today for a two-day screening of her latest Artcraft feature, "How Could You, Jean?" The story is by Eleanor Hoyt Brainery, scenario by Francis Marion and was directed by William D. Taylor.

Informing her attorney that because of the financial misfortunes of her family her income will cease, Jean Morley, an aristocratic young girl, resolves to earn her own living, and to the dismay of her friends, announces her intention of becoming a cook. After meeting with many rebuffs in her attempt to secure employment in this field, and convinced that a young, well dressed, attractive cook stands small chance in modern society, she goes to the Salvation army, provides a Swedish outfit and with the aid of this and an assumed Swedish dialect, is engaged by Mrs. Bonner, a literary woman living in the country.

While at the employment office she meets Susan, a young woman with a little daughter, Molly, and Jean vows to assist her in every way as soon as she is settled at Mrs. Bonner's. The Bonners are a couple of elderly, almost helpless, writers. Jean finds the Bonner house in a sadly neglected state, and experiences great difficulty in settling things to rights. Another serious obstacle is the too friendly and admiring Oscar, the Swedish hired man, whose attentions she is obliged to refuse with no amiable show of temper. The next door neighbor is Kate Morley, a widow with five husky children, a dog and goat, and a mania for feeding people well. Jean arranges with Mrs. Morley for a home for Susan and her little Molly.

Suddenly there appears on the scene Edward Burton, a millionaire to whom life is just "one damn pill after another." He is a confirmed old grouch, hates to see people have a good time and eat regular meals. His son Ted, who finds life's work very hard play and who is a victim of ennui, goes west for a weeks hunting trip and on returning from his hunt, when driving past the Bonner farm, sees Jean fleeing across the fields, pursued by the Morley goat. He questions Oscar and learns that Jean is the Bonner's cook. Disappointed and somewhat discouraged he returns home, but he cannot forget Jean, whom he terms his nymph. Ted returns to the Bonner farm and bribes Oscar to give up his job, and Ted is engaged to take Oscar's place.

Vivette.

In "Vivette," the Paramount feature in which Vivian Martin is the star, Newark picture fans will see one of the best that this star has so far appeared in. In this she acts and is pretty and sweet, which is one of the big factors in this most cleverly written story by William J. Locke. Mr. Locke's stories are so well known to the public that mere mention that it is his story should pack the Auditorium Sunday to its full capacity.

A Bill Parsons comedy, "Birds of Feather," in two reels, is an added feature.

"The Smarter Set."

Lovers of mirth, melody and good singing are looking forward to the appearance of "The Smarter Set," which comes to the Auditorium next Monday afternoon and evening in a new musical comedy. "Darkest Americans," which is headed by the well known comedians, Salem Tutt Whitney and J. Homer Tutt. No comedians possess a more attractive personality or greater accomplishments than the Tutties and their comedy vein has gained marvellously in strength during the past few years, but not at a cost of its purity, as is often the case when comedians strive for greater honors. Seats go on sale Saturday morning.

Riding a Wild Moose.

How a fearless hunter overcomes and rides a wild moose is a striking part of a motion picture canoe fishing and hunting trip through the Canadian wilds, featured in Lyman H. Howe's newest Travel Festival, which comes to the Auditorium next Wednesday afternoon and evening.

The Howe camera men here take the spectators upon a remarkable vacation excursion into the very heart of the Canadian forests. The trail starts down the Cams river in New Brunswick and leads down stream and across portages, into the primeval wilderness. Fish weighing up to twenty pounds are captured apparently without effort and close-ups of wild deer are filmed seemingly without difficulty. Finally the camera-armed sportsmen, in a frail canoe, discover several moose in a lake and give chase. Since the canoe can move much more rapidly than the frightened moose, it is an easy matter to overtake him. Then it is that the fearless guide leaps from the canoe upon the surprised moose's back and rides none too comfortably across the lake. It is probably the first time that this feat has been performed and during stunt has been filmed.

The usual Lyman H. Howe animated cartoon comedies and film novelties round out the splendid program. Seats on sale Monday at 10 a. m.

ALHAMBRA.

"The Firefly of France."
Now like a firefly in a very truth is the darling aviator who, far above the battle-scurled hands, darts hither and thither upon his mission! He is the eyes of the army. He is taking a place in this war that makes it different from any other war.

In "The Firefly of France," the new Paramount picture starring Wallace Reid with Ann Little, which will be shown at the Alhambra today and tomorrow, the work of an intrepid bird-man forms the basis of a story that sets the blood tingling and makes one of the most interesting pictures that has been seen here in many weeks.

"Honor's Cross."
Gang fights in motion picture productions are not uncommon, but for ferocity and damage wrought, it is doubtful if there ever was a comparable with that in "Honor's Cross," a Selznick production to be seen at the Alhambra theatre Sunday.

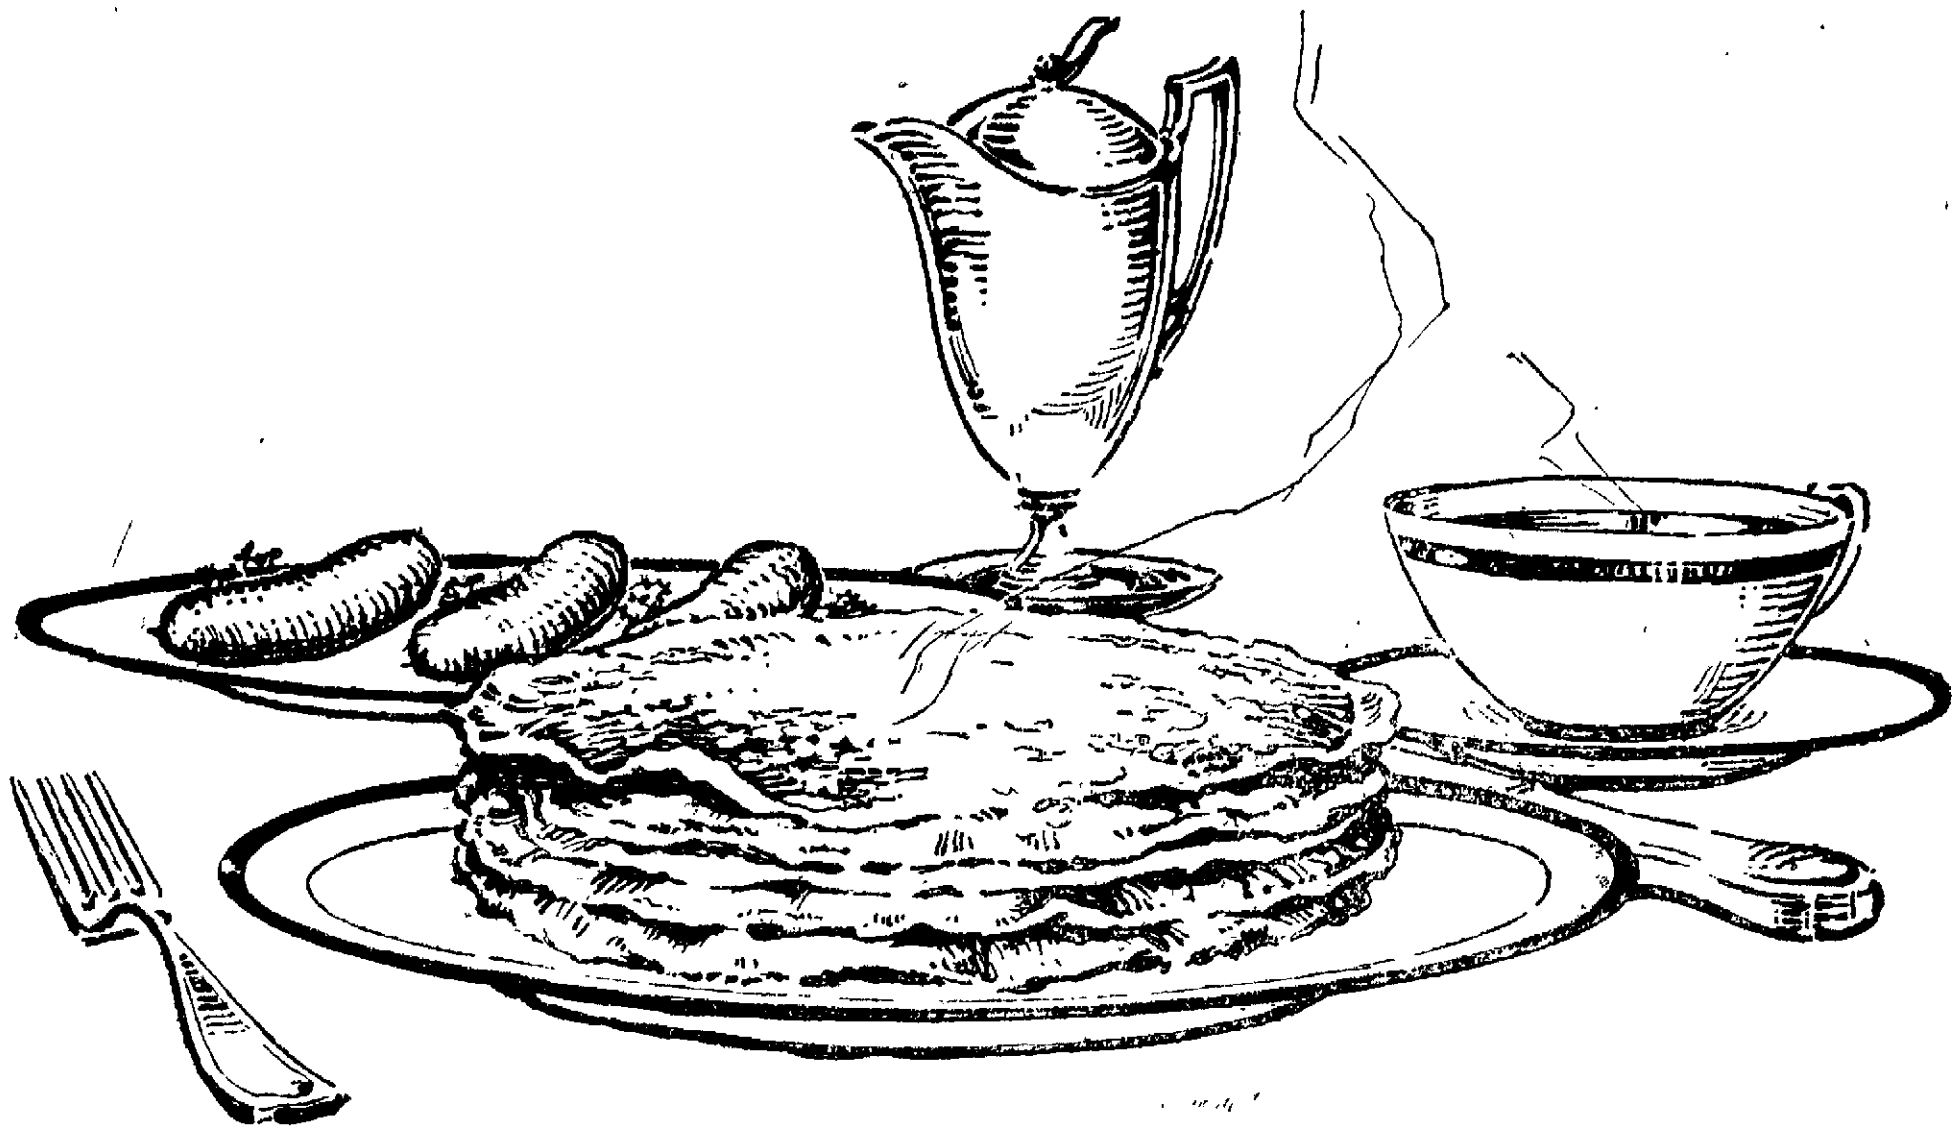

The combat takes place in a saloon dance hall used as headquarters by a gang of gunmen. While a cabaret show is at its height, the leader of an opposing band appears, followed by a number of his cronies, and a gun battle ensues. The headquarters gang, suspecting that the rival leader had come to do battle.

"Gentleman Jim" Cabot, a former pugilist and head of the home gang, approaches the opposing leader to demand an explanation. He gets it in the form of a blow to the jaw that tells him. That punch starts a fight that is not concluded until every one of the gangsters is stretched out on the floor. A comedy is also promised.

"For Freedom."
William Farnum, beloved by all motion picture fans, will be seen in a new picture, "For Freedom," at the Alhambra this Monday.

Mr. Farnum will be seen in a role that is said to compare favorably with his noted portrayal of Jean Valjean in "Les Miserables." In his portrayal of a man condemned and dishonored beyond warrant, he hears within prison walls the call of humanity and pleads for freedom so that he may fight for his country. His parole is granted. He emerges from the battle-field a hero. His love of a sweet girl he saved from his past is the keynote of his human interest in the play.

Applicants For Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance companies, in an interview of the subject, made the following statement: "That one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large."

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the Newark Daily Advertiser—Adv.

serials but never any like "The Master Mystery," B. A. Rolfe's 15 episode super serial, starring Houdini, the handcut king, Episode One of which comes to the Alhambra next week for a two days' run.

Other serials have their moments of excitement but the means of achieving thrills in "The Master Mystery" are entirely new. Of course Houdini furnished the thrills, with a giant automaton as his foil. Houdini performs feats of self liberation no other mortal can accomplish. He does not need to be rescued in the nick of time by the prompt arrival of a faithful friend; he rescues himself. The forces of restraint devised by the automaton are startling, but Houdini's skill at freeing himself is all the more bewildering.

BOWSER TWISTS TOES OF KILONIS

Wins Only Fall in Bout With Greek, Which Gets Big Crowd Highly Excited.

Columbus, Feb. 21. Paul Bowser of Newark, won over John Kilonis of Norfolk, Va., in their wrestling match before the Quality Club at the Chamber of Commerce last night. Bowser secured the only fall of the match, which was scheduled to be a finish with a two-hour limit. This, of course, gave him the decision at the expiration of the time allotted.

The fall registered by the Newark wrestler came in one hour and 27 1/2 minutes, and was taken with a toe-hold. The grasp on the toes of the Virginia Greek came after a series of rushes by the men into the seats at the ringside. In this particular instance Kilonis, after being pushed into the seats by Bowser, lost his balance. Bowser grabbed his leg and pulled him on the mat. Being in a position back of the Greek, Paul had little trouble going through with the hold that proved the winning grip of the match.

For wrestling fans who like plenty of action this bout far outranked anything ever seen here before. These fellows, as evenly matched as it is possible to have two grapplers, did about everything but use clubs during the time they were on the mat. Each pushed the other off the stage, scratched, struck one another and several times each had to be cautioned by the referee in regard to fouling.

Both used every trick and advantage known to the game, and it was a real treat to see these two clever fellows counter and break holds that to everyone in the audience looked as sure to bring the answer. Three times Kilonis had Bowser in an apparently bad shape twice with toe-holds and at another time he had a leg-scissors clamped on Paul, but the Newark grappler, making use of his great strength, managed to squirm out.

Before too, before he secured the hold that won the match for him, had the Greek in several precarious positions. Once he set a hammer-lock on Kilonis that was fast at the ringside thought would finish the match, but the Greek, making use of his famous "hula hula" hop, contrived to break away.

It was a great match for the spectators and the noise that the followers of each made as the bout progressed could be heard a block away. At the conclusion of the time limit the crowd stood at attention. After a short night of real thrills in the old Chamber of Commerce auditorium.

THE MARKETS

Wall Street.

New York, Feb. 21.—Profit-taking in anticipation of the week-end holiday holiday caused moderate irregularity of prices at the quiet opening of today's stock market. Advances ranging from large fractions to 1/2 points in Equipments, Motors, Oils, Leathers and Sugars were offset by recesses among Coppers, Tobaccos, Shippings and Secondary Specialties.

United States Steel yielded slightly. Standard Rails were listless within narrow limits and American Telephone and Philadelphia company represented the firm utilities.

Investment stocks were neglected during the forenoon, but Rubber, Sugar, Distilling and Related Specialties made further noteworthy gains. Kelly-Springfield rose 1/2 points to a new high price of 100. Goodrich gained 3/4. Ajax and United States Rubber 2. These gains, in several instances, resulted from favorable financial statements. Distillers' and Industrial Alcohol advanced 2 and 4 points respectively. Sugar 1 to 3 and Inactive Equipments 1 1/2 to 3. Oils including secondary issues, strengthened at noon with Tobaccos and Shippings.

Chicago Grain.
Chicago, Feb. 21.—Unsettled weather and predictions that it would continue much the same tomorrow delayed the grain market. The market advanced in the corn market, opening prices, which ranged from the same as yesterday's bid to 1/2 cent higher, with May $1.24 1/2 to $1.25 1/2, and July $1.17 1/2 to $1.21, were followed by something of a reaction, but then it renewed interest. Oats were inclined to sag. Support was lacking. After opening 1/2c off to 1 1/2c up with May 50c to 60c, the market underwent a moderate setback. Immense amounts lifted the provision market. Hogs were also credited with a recovery. Packers had received big new orders.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Apply few drops then lift sore, touchy corns off with fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic!
A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation. Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful.

Muggins—"She insists you told her she had a voice like a bird." Buggins—"Well, that's one way of looking at it. I said she talked like a parrot."

WHY COUGH AND COUGH AND COUGH?

Dr. King's New Discovery removes the danger of neglect

Coughing until the parched throat grows painful should not be permitted. It should be relieved before it gains headway with a dose of Dr. King's New Discovery.

The same with a cold or bronchial attack. Millions have used this well-known remedy for half a century regularly without thought of change. Sold by druggists since 1869. An all-important adjunct to any family medicine cabinet. 60c and $1.20.

The Burden of Constipation is lifted, comfortably but positively when you treat your bowels with Dr. King's New Life Pills. The liver gets busy, digestion improves, the sickly, sallow skin is freed from bile. Get a bottle today—start the day right. 25c.

Be Careful in Using Soap on Your Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mul-sified coconut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

SEES STORYBOOK CHARACTERS IN RHINE VALLEY

soldiers Run Across Chimney Sweeps, Shepherds With Crooks and Other Fairy Tale Heroes.

American boys who have knowledge of German find it a great help to them now reaching the Rhine. Sergeant Clyde Anderson of Battery D, 324th, F. A. H. says the Germans were surprised to learn that so many of the Americans could speak and understand their language.

The country along the Rhine is mountainous and most of the hill tops are capped with old estates. The boys are seeing sights and people now they only believed lived in books—such as chimney sweeps and shepherds with a staff. Sergeant Anderson's letters to friends follow:

"We were on the Argonne front when the war stopped, we had only been there two days, for we were at Verdun during most of our time on the front.

We were corps artillery, that is we did not belong to any one division and stay in one certain place, but we went where the fighting was the hardest, where we were needed the most. The first place we struck on the front was the Forest of Meuse.

From where we went to the Meuse near Dead Man's Hill, from there up on the Verdun front and from there we came back to the Argonne. We would pull into a place and put down a few barages and then pull out for somewhere else. From where we started to here it is about 300 kilometers, so you see we had quite a little hike. It was a wonderful trip and I would not have missed it for anything.

We came through the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg and across a corner of Belgium.

We certainly saw some wonderful country. Luxembourg is one of the most beautiful places that I have ever seen.

Here in Germany everything is very much in order, much more so than it is in France. The forestry system of Germany is wonderful. The finest timber and the most beautiful forest that I have ever seen are here. The country here along the Rhine is very rough. It looks a lot like the Allegheny mountains.

My little knowledge of German helps out a whole lot now. If I would have stayed in France ten years I would not have learned to speak French, but can jabber German like a streak.

The Germans seem to be very much surprised that so many of Americans can talk and understand German. I guess they thought that we were of a set of Indians, until they saw us.

This country is full of old castles and ruins. It suits me pretty well for I just love to explore them and to look over the place where the old robber knight used to hang out. From the looks of things this always has been the land of robbers and, etc., for there is the ruins of an old castle on almost every hill top around here.

We arrived on the Rhine ten days before Christmas, that is probably a month sooner than we would have been here, if the war had not stopped.

The way Fritz was leaving France it would not have been more than two months until we would have been here. Toward the last they were going so fast that we could hardly keep up with them.

I am gathering up souvenirs now and if I stay here much longer when I come back I will have, as the French say, "Beau coup" of them. I have whole pockets full of buttons which I cut off the coats of dead Germans, besides a lot of other things I have found since I came up here.

I certainly was surprised at the climate in this country. It is not cold at all, there has been no signs of snow yet and some of the harder trees still have their leaves on. Along the streets I see a rose tree now and then in bloom, also lots of cabbage plants being set out in the gardens. I guess that it does not get cold enough to kill them.

I guess the reason it does not get cold here is because it hasn't time between rains.

Really though it rains most of the time. I was surprised at the Rhine river, I thought it was a big river. It is not near as large as the Ohio and where we crossed it looked like it was shallow. We have a pretty easy time here I think, not a whole lot to do, but clean up for inspection and four or five hours drill every day.

We have houses to stay in and the time will pass quickly even if we stay six months.

It will not be like fighting and having to stay out doors all winter as we would have had to do, if the war had continued.

The second letter received says: "Received a letter from you yesterday which you wrote on the tenth of November. You guessed that we would be on the Rhine by Christmas. Well, we beat that time by ten days, we crossed on the 15th of December. Your guess was pretty good though, for we would have been here by the middle of January, the way we had them coming. Along towards the last they were right out in the open, going all the time, they did not have time to make any trenches at all. We pulled right through No Man's Land, the last effort that I saw that they had made at any shelter was a ditch about a foot deep out in a wheat field and a few little holes along the road large enough for one man.

They would fire their big guns until the last minute, then leave them. I saw one gun back on the Argonne forest with eight horses hooked to it and three of the four drivers, all dead.

DAILY HEALTH TALKS

Better be Careful About Your Kidneys

By N. B. COOK, M. D.

Foods taken into the stomach go through various chemical changes, and some of these changes are poisons that must be sifted out and disposed of. It is the duty of the kidneys to do this. When the kidneys do not fully perform their vital work, death may be only a few hours away.

Happily, Nature has provided warnings alarms telling people when their kidneys are not well. These warnings come in the form of dragging pains in the small of the back, weak stomach, low spirits, chills, back, weak stomach, scanty urine and frequent desire to pass it; short breath, numbness, cramps, coated tongue, bad breath, puffiness under the eyes, thin blood, dry skin, ringing in the ears, spots before the eyes and many other symptoms. All come from the one cause of kidneys that are not filtering the poisons out of the system. To overcome these troubles, Dr. Pierce's, of Buffalo, N. Y., compounded what he calls Anuric Tablets. No other kidney medicine is its equal in giving relief and re-establishing healthful work in the kidneys.

The treatment is very simple, as you need nothing except water when taking Anuric Tablets—a glass of water with each tablet. The tablets and flushes the kidneys while the medicine itself is dissolving the uric acid poisons and driving them out.

Anuric Tablets are made double strength, so that they dissolve uric acid the same as hot water dissolves salt or sugar. Most people need Anuric Tablets because most people have uric acid. Better get that poison out of your body for safety's sake, and better begin today.

To gently and agreeably coax the bowels back into normal activity, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are just as good for constiveness as his Anuric Tablets are good for kidney disorders, and that is saying a great deal.

where they had been caught in our barrage.

The German soldiers say that they never saw a real barrage until the Americans came. When we came to the front in September we went on the Argonne front in forest of Mense there we were with the 32nd, the same one we are with now. We were backing up the Ohio boys from Camp Sheridan. They gave the dutch hell, but they sure lost a lot of men.

We went from the forest of Mense to Verdun, the hardest place on the whole front. We took up a position near Dead Man's Hill, and talk about artillery, both sides had enough there to blow up hell, everything from a one-pounder to a sixteen inch rifle. There was a battery of the British on a railroad just back of our picket line.

The German planes came over and located them and in about a half an hour they were just shooting hell out of things. I think that the shells which Fritz shot at them were 370 namis; where they struck in soft ground they would make a whole large enough to put the hen house in and have it all below the level, and they also made noise enough to scare the devil.

We finally moved them back a ways and then pulled up to the front with the 24th division; our gas was on one side of the hill and the German infantry on the other. We got relieved there by another division and same lack to a rest camp back of Verdun.

We pulled into the rest camp (a hell of a mud hole in a woods) in the evening and pulled out the next day for the Argonne again to join the 32nd and that is where we were when the war stopped.

We stayed a week at Velosne on the Meuse river and then made this march up here 300 kilometers; it sure was some more hike, and we came like we were going to a fire and now that we are here I suppose we will stay for six months. On the hike up here I had charge of a chariot (a big cur-cus wagon); I had eight horses hitched to it, one pair ahead of another; I had 1500 pounds of a load and I was never stuck once on the whole hike. I think that is pretty good, don't you? Considering that the horses were only getting 10 pounds of oats and eleven of hay and several times they went for 36 hours without anything. The biggest kick I have on hikes like this one is the cats; most of the time a fellow don't eat. Part of the time we would hike from about five o'clock in the morning until eleven or twelve and one night it was one when we stopped. Pulled out again in the morning at 5 o'clock. We didn't have time to stop for dinner, so we only had two meals each day, and well as I said there was none of the boys' fooder at those meals.

Will this armistice effect our training school? I hope not for you would get a fit a chariot easy if the school continued.

We came through a city called Mayen on the way up here, and the one thing I saw in the town was a chimney sweep, he was dressed just like the pictures in the books. I also saw a shepherd with a long cloak and a sheep hook.

It seems funny to see that old stuff which we only hear about in kids' story books. After I saw those things I wouldn't have been surprised to see anything.

I was poisoned on bully beef and went back to the hospital for five days and now the doctors are doing squads right up and down my back.

The place sure was alive with them; I am all right now and back with the rest of my bunch.

MAKE OLD SHOES WEAR LIKE NEW

"I had Neolin Soles put on my shoes—wore these shoes every day for fifteen months, then had Neolin half-soles put on. They are still in good condition," writes F. T. Evans, of Seattle, Washington.

This is cutting shoe bills down to the minimum through Neolin Soles. Anyone can do this if he will follow Mr. Evans' example, and have his shoes re-bottomed with Neolin Soles. These tough, durable soles cost no more than soles that give only ordinary wear. And all good repair shops have them.

Neolin Soles come on new shoes, too—in many styles for men, women and children. They are created by Science to be all that soles should be—comfortable and waterproof, as well as long-wearing. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear any other heels.

For Constipation! Physic Purge or Laxative?

Everyone now and then becomes constipated, and millions are chronically in that condition. The perplexing question arises—what to use.

Purgatives and cathartics are drastic and usually cause a reaction. Saline waters are rapid in action but do no more than empty the bowels.

Just as certain an effect, and certainly a much more pleasant one, can be obtained by the use of a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin sold by druggists under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It acts gently, without griping. It is an especially ideal medicine for children, women, old people and others who find purges too powerful.

Only a teaspoonful is required, and by morning the movement is free and complete. A bottle in the house is insurance for the whole family against constipation, indigestion, headaches, flatulency and other digestive ills.

The druggist will refund your money if it fails to do as promised.

PRICE AS ALWAYS

In spite of greatly increased laboratory costs due to the war, by sacrificing profits and absorbing war taxes we have maintained the price at which this family laxative has been sold by druggists for the past 26 years. Two sizes—50c and $1.00.

A MOTHER'S STRENGTH

Mother, whose hands rock the cradle, often needs more than ordinary food to help maintain the blood-quality and strength and to assure adequate nourishment to the child. It is as unwise for the mother, as it is dangerous to the child, to place dependence upon alcoholic stimulation, for strength is not found in alcohol.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

of purest cod liver oil, absolutely free from alcohol, is mother's true friend, in that it performs a two-fold duty. Scott's is tonic-nourishment, particularly fitted for the trying period of motherhood.

364TH REGT. HAS RECORD FOR HIKE

Newark Boy Says Unit Marches 45 Kilometers With Only 18 Dropping Out.

Private Clarence V. Good, with headquarters company of 364th Infantry, wrote the following interesting account of the drives he participated in to his brother Perry Good of Linn, Ark.

Good writes that he wishes now that he had had a speedometer attached to him so he could tell how many miles they traveled. The day after the signing of the armistice they were taken to St. Marie Hoorbake and the best band in the 91st division they passed through the large towns marching at "attention."

They made a record for themselves by hiking 45 kilometers in two days with only 18 out of 2700 players out on the way. Part of the hike was across "No Man's Land," where the battle of Haubthulst was fought, the allied forces losing 30,000, and the Germans 50,000. Parts of the letter read:

"I tell you, you know that I always had an idea of what it was like up at the front lines, but I found it much different than I thought it was. It was as near as I can tell you. The Germans did not have any infantry to speak of. It was all machine guns and artillery. We had to pass through woods, bogs, wire, brush and old trenches, and all the time we were doing it we were subject to heavy artillery shell-fire from the enemy. Believe me those shells were big ones, making holes in the ground about eight feet deep and 15 to 20 feet wide, tore trees down and blew everything out of sight that was in the way. We got somewhat split up but continued to advance regardless of their barrage on double-time for about two kilometers to get ahead of it and finally came upon a slope within range of their machine guns."

"After having crossed the creek they then proceeded to pepper us but could not stop us. A couple of their airplanes came over and tried to discourage us with machine-gun fire, but it didn't work. Then the artillery got busy, but even that didn't hold us back, and we took everything in sight and continued to advance all day and finally arrived at the village of Very, where we held the line for the night. That day we started the ball rolling again, advancing, of course. They continued the shelling with everything they had, including high explosive, gas and shrapnel, and the shells were of all sizes from the largest down to a one-pounder which we call a "cadiment" gun. The larger sizes are called "G. I. cans," and the largest are entitled "barraacks bags." We covered about the same distance the second as we had the first. We sent them another barrage that night and the next day we advanced some more and took up a position on the side of a hill, which we held for six days and nights, feeding on bully-beef and hardtack. We were under a continuous shell-fire from the enemy here. Aeroplanes came over and machines gunned us, but couldn't make a dent. We moved back out of danger of shell-fire to a woods where we went into pup-tents to shelter us from the rain. I might add right here that the rain was in league with the Kaiser one night while we were holding the lines, but we stayed there in about four hours of mud and the next day we forgot it ever happened."

"We rested two days and then moved back further and again went into pup-tents, this time on the side of a hill in the mud, near gray-green. The weather was raw and chilly, and we had to build a fire during the day to keep warm and put it out at night to keep from being air-raided. One glance at a hole made by an air-bomb is enough to make anyone take the precaution to keep from being located by the enemy observers. We started from there on a three-day hike, 36 kilometers away, for what was known later as the Lys-Scheldt front for another war at Heime. He camped in a turnip-patch to await the dawn of another eventful day. Early in the morning the French cavalry went after them on mounts that looked like a string of race horses. I might add that they needed them to catch up with the fleeing Huns. They had smelled American powder from our barrage. We were in support of the 345th machine-gun battalion, who are fighting demons, and the first day we advanced eight kilometers and dug in for the night."

"While we were on the line for the third time all the time to give them hell against the armistice was signed and hostilities ceased. We were then taken to St. Marie Hoorbake where the band rejoined us. Our band is the best in the 91st division and as we passed through towns of any size they played for us and we marched at "attention" until the order "rout" step is given when we sing our riles and hike."

"We left the town of Hoogdele and started on a march of 29 kilometers across what is known as "No Man's Land," and only 18 men fell out on account of sore feet or sickness. We arrived in the town of Oostvelzen late in the afternoon tired out—too tired, in fact, to walk to the "rooming kitchen" for supper as it was quite late away from headquarters, nor did the headquarters lunch go for breakfast the next morning because we had another hike of 17 kilometers starting us in the face for that day. On December 1—Sunday—we hiked the 17 kilometers, and before we had some hick and corn, arriving at Herzog at 2 p. m. Again the 364th came to the front with "guts" and only 18 out of 2700 men fell in the way, too tired or sore to go further. Forty-five kilometers in two days is a good record. I sure have seen a couple of men in a short time. I wish that I could have had a speedometer attached to myself so I could tell how many miles I have traveled. But I have worn out several pairs of hick boots on the way."

URGES HOME BUILDING TO PROVIDE LABOR

The department of labor is sending out placards with the intent of urging people to do contemplated building at this time.

Many of the cards have to deal with the suggestion of building homes, and this has been the fact that Newark probably has more home-owners than any city of the same size in the country.

It is distinctive of the city that the majority of the residents own their own homes, and for that reason no matter how modest the dwellings, it has the homey, well-kept atmosphere which adds to the attractiveness of the town and brings content to the home-owners.

RHEUMATISM IS ALL GONE NOW

Rheumatism is a difficult disease to treat successfully and nobody knows this better than the sufferer who has endured the pains of rheumatism year after year, with renewed agony marking each change of weather.

One thing is characteristic of the disease and that is the pronounced thinning of the blood. The difficulty of correcting the trouble while the blood remains thin is also recognized and the fact that building up the blood often gives relief is exemplified in the case of Mr. John H. Zess, of No. 2242 East Sixty-third street, Cleveland, Ohio. He says:

"I was troubled with rheumatism for about three years and at different times during that period I was confined to bed for a week or more. My feet and hands were numb and felt as though they were asleep, my muscles were stiff and sore and at times I was helpless. My limbs would swell and I could not use them and I lost a great deal of time from my work. My stomach was in bad shape, my appetite was poor and I did not sleep well."

"Four months ago I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I have taken several boxes of the pills and feel good. The soreness is gone, I have no more pains in my limbs, my appetite is good and I work every day. In fact I have not lost any time in the last three months. I have certainly received great benefit from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and am glad to recommend them."

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents per box. Write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for free book on the blood.

HOME MADE TEA FOR CONSTIPATION

Is used by entire families because it is purely vegetable, does the work and costs very little.

Why pay high prices for Liver and Bowel remedies when none are better than Dr. Carter's K. and B. Tea, which is purely vegetable, can be brewed at home, and a small package will last a long time?

Thousands of old people will tell you they have been drinking it for years, and after the liver and bowels have been put in fine condition in a few days by a before bedtime cup, that only an occasional cup is afterwards necessary to keep one feeling fit and fine.

People who drink a cup of Dr. Carter's K. and B. Tea, once in a while, seldom, if ever, have any bilious attacks, sick headache or swollen skin. It's good for boys and girls, especially those who are peevish and fretful. Druggists have been selling it for many years.—Adv.

YANKS CUT OWN CHRISTMAS TREE

Jacksontown Boy Climbs Mountain to Get Evergreen But Rain Made Trip Unpleasant.

The Yankee boys in France celebrated Christmas as best they could going to the woods and cutting their own trees and trimming them. Private Paul Stotler of the 25th company 20th engineers says he'll always remember his first Christmas Eve in the army for he was on guard and all the other boys were out having a good time. A letter written Dec. 24th to his mother Mrs. Jesse Stotler of Jackson-town reads:

"I am on guard tonight my first Christmas night in the army. One to always be remembered. A soldier here by the name of George Buttrey and I went up on a mountain and got a Christmas tree and we sure got wet. It has rained here now for three weeks every day. Stopped today for about four hours but is at it again as hard as ever. Now we have our Christmas tree up and some decorations on it but not very many but we have them here and I am going to put them on tonight after all the boys have gone. The French people do not go to bed tonight and they go to church at midnight. All the boys have invitations out tonight and I will be with you some time in the near future, inside of three months anyway. I don't know of course, but all the boys seem to think we will get out of France sometime in January. Do you know I will be 23 years old in about ten days."

PAUL STOTLER (Sitting)
His companion is George Buttrey of New York State.

TELLS OTHERS OF VALUE OF MENTHO-LAXENE

COLD AND COUGH SYRUP.

Mrs. A. Lindling, 138 Beacon avenue, Jersey City, N. J., writes:

"I find the Menth-Laxene just fine and would not be without it. It has been in our home for three years, and I hope your Free Health Book is as good as the Menth-Laxene, etc."

With very little advertising, hundreds of thousands of bottles of Menth-Laxene are sold every year by druggists, and each year the sales grow larger. Get a 2 1/2-ounce bottle, concentrated, and mix with simple syrup to make a full pint. Directions and guarantee of satisfaction are with each bottle. A pint lasts a long time for the whole family. It is cheaper and better than ready-prepared medicines, but easy to mix.—Adv.

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas On Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Insulated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antacid than Insulated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestant. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent a further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the food digests naturally and healthfully without need of peppermint pills or artificial aids.

Get a few ounces of Insulated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes in a hard, milk or citrate and in the Insulated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat." (Adv.)

GROWING DEAF WITH HEAD NOISES? TRY THIS

If you are growing hard of hearing and or Catarrh of the Ears or if you have ringing, humming, buzzing noises in your ears go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Porrimin (double strength) and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little bit of salt and stir. Take this four times a day for 10 days. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. (Clug and Kistner's should open, breathing become easy and the tinnitus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare. Good little and pleasant to take. Anyone who is thus tormented with Catarrh of the Ears or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial. (Adv.)
